

Dear friends, fans, and customers:

We are proud to announce that our CEO and Founder Raul D. Hernandez just made his debut as a guest blogger on Mother Earth News with an in-depth look a critical piece being missed in debates over how to solve global warming.

Forestry, Global Warming, and the Multi-Billion-Dollar Carbon-Credit Grab

Drawing on over two decades of experience as a conservationist and forester active in the restoration forestry movement, Raul sheds light on the role of old-growth forests in global cooling, and how the emerging carbon credit market could be used to protect working forests worldwide while keeping billions of tons of CO2 out of the air.
